The Australian Curriculum Studies Association (ACSA) invites you to participate in their 2013 Biennial Curriculum Conference

Uncharted territory?
Navigating the new Australian Curriculum

Wednesday 25 September to Friday 27 September 2013
Darwin Convention Centre, Darwin

The conference starts at 9.30 am on Wednesday 25 September and closes at 3.30 pm on Friday 27 September 2013

The conference theme
The Australian Curriculum’s Cross Curriculum Priorities:
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander histories and cultures
- Sustainability
- Asia and Australia’s engagement with Asia.

This conference aims to build the capacity of curriculum leaders by exploring the Cross Curriculum Priorities. If you are the person responsible for implementing the new Australian Curriculum in your school you should join us for this exciting conference which will present a range of views from curriculum experts on how we can conceptualise the new Australian Curriculum.

Each day of the conference will focus on one of the Cross Curriculum Priorities with wonderfully informative and thought provoking keynote addresses and workshops.

This is a chance for everyone interested in Australian Curriculum—teachers, curriculum leaders, principals, governments, education authorities, professional associations, parents and students—to receive the latest information and participate in discussion about curriculum in Australia.

Nightcliff Primary School is located in the suburb of Nightcliff and is one of the largest primary schools in Darwin. The school’s wellbeing program focuses on our five values and implements the Tribes TLC© Program. Differentiated teaching and learning that develops each child at individual achievement rates is offered. The First Steps Writing and Reading Program is used across the whole school. The school has a comprehensive instrumental music program. Students are involved in action teams that develop sustainable practices in a bid to reduce the schools’ impact on the environment. The Asia in School Program and Asian languages are an important part of the school’s curriculum. Nightcliff Primary School provides strong intervention and support programs for special needs, English as a Second Language and Indigenous students.
The Northern Territory Open Education Centre (NTOEC) commits to achieving equality of educational opportunity through the delivery of high quality flexible distance education to support, inspire and empower all students to succeed. NTOEC is located in the Darwin suburb of Rapid Creek and provides a comprehensive range of senior secondary education subjects enabling students to complete the NT Certificate of Education and Training by distance mode.

The school is the sole provider of senior secondary distance education in the Northern Territory. Students are enrolled with NTOEC for a variety of reasons including isolation due to geographic, social or medical circumstances. Also enrolled with the NTOEC are ‘second chance’ and mature age students, including military personnel, local students under special provision and dual enrolments from schools where students need extended curriculum choices.

More than 50% of NTOECs enrolments are Indigenous students in remote communities where students are often dual enrolled with their local school. These dual enrolments are included in the generation of the School Finances 2010 data, but have been excluded from the School Profile enrolment numbers. Actual enrolments are 670 with a full-time equivalent of 336.6. NTOEC is a Registered Training Organisation, delivering a range of VET courses to students, working in partnership with other training providers.

Sanderson Middle School is a rich and diverse multicultural community with students representing over 55 different cultural and language groups. Approximately 30% of the students are Indigenous. The school is committed to providing a dynamic, learning environment for all students from Years 7 to 9. Staff work flexibly and innovatively to provide for the diverse needs of all of our students.

Sanderson Middle School is unique as it is the only middle school in the Northern Territory to have an established Intensive English Unit catering for students who have either recently arrived in Australia, or come from communities where Standard Australian English is not widely spoken. The school has also developed a partnership with the federal Department of Immigration and Citizenship to provide a range of educational programs to school aged asylum seekers who are housed in detention in Darwin.

Successful and engaging partnerships with community organisations feature largely in the school’s learning and wellbeing programs. The Clontarf Football Academy, GEMS girls leadership program, The Smith Family, Melaleuca Refugee Centre and Mission Australia all play a valuable role in supporting the students in their learning.
O’Loughlin Catholic College is a vibrant school community where there is a clear evidence of the Catholic tradition and ethos. To believe in it, to act on it and to share it with others is a significant role that we all have the responsibility to share.

Our College has a proud 25 year history of offering holistic Catholic education in a co-educational Year 7–12 environment. Our vision of “Make us one with Christ” with hope, faith and love is at the forefront of all we do. Our College, named after Bishop John O’Loughlin, aims at celebrating our Catholic identity through sacraments and liturgy and developing a welcoming community for all.

Academically, the College strives to cultivate intellectual values in a wide range of disciplines. We promote in students a sense of integrity, respect for truth, openness and positive virtues. We encourage and value excellence in all our endeavours.

We acknowledge the important role of parents in the education of their children and recognise the significance of a positive and active co-relation between home and school. Our community encourages all families to become involved and to be proactive with this relationship. A positive and active relationship between school and home ensures an open dialogue on all occasions. With the help of parents, we endeavour to facilitate each child’s journey towards their potential through quality teaching and learning practices.

Kormilda College is an Anglican and Uniting Church day and residential co-educational secondary school that focuses on the individual needs of students and the development of well-rounded and confident young people. As a Christian College, fees are kept to a minimum and students of all faiths and religions are welcomed.

In 2009 there are about 1150 students enrolled—two-thirds are mainstream non-Indigenous local day students. They are joined by almost 300 residential students, predominantly remote Indigenous (saltwater to desert). In 2008, there were 99 Year 12 candidates, and 34 participated in the IB Diploma with 28 achieving their diplomas, including one Indigenous student. In the NT Certificate of Education, 61 of 65 students were awarded the Certificate including all 21 Indigenous students and 90% of the Year 12 candidates were successful.

Internationally accredited as a school of excellence (Council of International Schools); Kormilda College is introducing the IB Middle Years Programme in 2010. Staff and students are encouraged to embrace our mission—Kormilda College, from its Christian foundation and commitment to excellence, seeks to inspire its students to be life-long learners who act with compassion and justice through their understanding of others, and who develop the wisdom and courage to shape the future.

Our study program will take you from the political nerve centre of Putrajaya in Kuala Lumpur, to Sarawak, known for its natural wonders, protected national parks, and home to 28 ethnic groups, each with their own distinct language and culture. Our study program will take you to visit schools, meet with teachers and students, and hear first hand from policy makers about the challenges and opportunities to be found in this multi-cultural environment.

You will take home a whole new perspective on education in the context of a rapidly advancing nation.
