

Webinar 34: Teacher Retention Series – Webinar 1 of 2 Key Practises to Improve Student Success and teacher Retention.

Professor John Fischetti

Professor John Fischetti has worked within this kind of transformational school reform, rethinking schooling, revamping teacher education and modernising transdisciplinary leadership preparation for the past 35 years.

Today he is Pro Vice-Chancellor of the College of Human and Social Futures comprising the Newcastle Law School, the Newcastle Business School, the School of Humanities and Social Science, the School of Creative Industries, and the School of Education. The College has taken on the challenge to promote equity-minded excellence throughout the social sciences and creative disciplines. As we negotiate the evolving machine-driven world, John's goal is to revision the future of humanity.

John received his doctorate in education in professional development, school reform and educational leadership for change in 1986 at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. He completed his Masters in Secondary Education and holds a Bachelor of Arts in Economics and American Government from the University of Virginia. John holds his teaching certificate in secondary social studies and has taught high school history, economics, and political science.

John's key research interests include School Reform, Preparing Leaders for New Roles/Responsibilities, Secondary Teacher Education Global Educational Issues, Curriculum, Instruction and Assessment Technology and Education Research in Teaching and Learning.

