

Webinar 30: Supporting Disengaged Young People – Special Assistance Schools

Ms Tracey Taylor, Director, education Policy

Tracey Taylor has over 25 years' experience in education, commencing as primary teacher and holding various school leadership positions. She was CEO of Steiner Education Australia (SEA) for seven years representing members at state, territory, national and international levels. Tracey was principal of Michael Park School in Auckland, taught at the International School of Florence in Italy, then returned to Australia as Principal at Samford Valley Steiner School, Brisbane. Tracey has been a Board Director at AISNSW, Board Director of two Independent schools and is passionate about schools working in holistic ways to support students. Tracey is currently Director, Education Policy with Independent Schools Australia. As part of ISA's research project on special assistance schools, Tracey visited seven schools to prepare the case study reports.